Business Description

Date fruits are considered as a high nutritional value fruit often produced in the Northern Hemisphere, especially in Iran, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Pakistan and some Arab countries in the Persian Gulf and North Africa. Stamaran, Piarom, Zahedi, Mazafati, Kabkab are different types of date fruits and many factors affect its production directly and indirectly; For example, the presence of dust in date fruit palm areas can lead to a decrease in harvesting amount and in its quality. This type of product is popular around the world due to its high nutritional value and producers have turned to the date fruit trade and is placed in many families food basket; producers should pay attention to this issue as governments are very strict about the quality and hygiene of the products. The Middle East is the largest exporter of date fruits in the world; Egypt, Iran and Saudi Arabia leading the trade in this part. Tamara Company has become one of the top active companies in this business using the modern equipment in the world and containing expert and committed personnel, now it is exporting its products to many countries.
